

Dear Learning Resources Customers

In light of the recent publicity about toys made in China, we would like to assure you that all Learning Resources products are safe for use by children. The safety of children is our top priority in both the design and manufacturing of each product. Learning Resources products are subject to safety testing by independent laboratories to ensure they comply with applicable safety standards and laws, including those for lead and heavy metals. These products safety tests are conducted on an ongoing basis.

We are fully aware and appreciative of the trust you put in us when you purchase a Learning Resources product, and we hold that trust in the highest regard. Our promise to you is to provide quality, hands-on educational products that make learning exciting and safe for children of all ages and abilities.

Thank you for your trust and continued support.

Sincerely,
